

IN BRIEF

Women sought for breast cancer study

Researchers in the north-east are looking for women to take part in research into breast cancer.

NHS Grampian wants volunteers aged 40-70 to help with a worldwide study into finding out if breast cancer can be prevented.

They will be asked to take one tablet a day for five years.

It will either be anastrozole or a placebo.

Anyone willing to participate is asked to contact Dr Mariella D'Alessandro on 01224 552120, e-mail m.dalessandro@nhs.net or post at Clinical Genetics Centre, Ashgrove House/ Ground Floor, Foresterhill, Aberdeen, AB25 2ZA

